

All Citizens Should Study Conscription Rules and Orders

A Thorough Understanding of Its Provisions Will Minimize Work of Registering Officials

NO ONE CAN DUY SUBSTITUTE FOR ARMY

While space does not permit us to publish in full the selective conscription bill, which is about to become a law following the agreement of the House and Senate conferees, we give below for the purpose of public information the vital sections of the new military bill.

AN ACT to authorize the President to increase temporarily the military establishment of the United States.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, that in view of the existing emergency, which demands the raising of troops in addition to those now available, the President be, and he is hereby, authorized—

First. Immediately to raise, organize, officer and equip all or such number of increments of the regular army provided by the national defense act approved June 3, 1916, or such parts thereof as he may deem necessary; to raise all organizations of the regular army, including those added by such increments to the maximum enlisted strength authorized by law. Vacancies in the regular army created or caused by the addition of increments as herein authorized, which can not be filled by promotion may be filled by temporary appointment for the period of the emergency or until replaced by provisional appointments made under the provisions of section 23 of the national defense act, approved June, 1916, and hereafter provisional appointments under said section may be terminated whenever it is determined, in the manner prescribed by the President, that the officer has not the suitability and fitness requisite for permanent appointment.

Second. To draft into the military service of the United States, organize and officer in accordance with the provisions of section 111 of said national defense act, so far as the provisions of said section may be applicable and not inconsistent with the term of this act, any or all members of the National Guard and of the National Guard reserve, and said members so drafted into the military service of the United States shall serve therein for the period of the existing emergency unless sooner discharged. Provided, That when so drafted the organizations or units of the National Guard shall so far as practicable, retain the state destinations of their respective organization.

Third. To raise by draft as herein provided, organize and equip an additional force of 500,000 enlisted men such part or parts thereof as he may at any time deem necessary, and to provide the necessary officers, line and staff, for said force and for organizations of the other forces hereby authorized or by combining organizations of said other forces.

Sec. 2 That the enlisted men required to raise and maintain the organizations of the regular army and to complete and maintain the organizations embodying the members of the National Guard drafted into the service of the United States, at the maximum legal strength as by this act provided, shall be raised by voluntary enlistment, or if and whenever the President decides that they cannot effectually be so raised or maintained, then by selective draft; and all other forces hereby authorized, shall be raised and maintained by selective draft exclusively, but this provision shall not prevent the transfer of any force of training cadres to other forces. Such draft shall be based upon liability to any service of all male citizens or male persons not alien enemies who have declared their intention to be citizens, between the ages of twenty-one and thirty years, both inclusive, and shall take place and be maintained under such regulations as the President may prescribe not inconsistent with the terms of this act.

Sec. 3. No bounty shall be paid to induce any person to enlist in the military service of the United States and no person liable to military service shall hereafter be permitted or allowed to furnish a substitute for such service; nor shall any substitute be received, enlisted or enrolled in the military service of the United States; and no such person shall be permitted to escape such service or to be discharged therefrom prior to the expiration of his term of service by the payment of money, or any other valuable thing whatsoever as consideration for his release from military service or liability thereto.

Sec. 4. That the Vice President of the United States, the officers, legislative, executive and judicial, of the United States and of the several states, territories and the District of Columbia, regular or duty obtained minister of religion, students who at the time of the approval of this act are preparing for the ministry in recognized theological or divinity schools and all persons in the military and naval service of the United States shall be exempt from the selective draft herein prescribed and nothing in this act contained shall be construed to require or compel any person to serve in any of the forces herein provided for any one found to be a member of any well recognized religious sect or organization at present organized and existing and whose existing creed or principles forbid its members to participate in war of any form and whose religious convictions are against war or participation therein accordance with the creed of principles of said religious organization, but no persons shall be exempted from service in any capacity that the President shall declare to be non-combatant; and the President is hereby authorized to exclude or discharge from said selective draft and from the draft under the second paragraph of section 1, or to draft for partial military service from those liable to draft as in this act provided, persons of the following classes: County and municipal official, custom house clerks, persons employed by the United States in the transmission of the mails, artificers and workmen employed in the armories, arsenals and navy yards of the United States, and such other persons employed in service of the United States as the President may designate, pilots, marines actually employed in the sea service of any citizen or merchant within the United States, persons engaged in industries, including agriculture, found to be necessary to the maintenance of the military establishment or the effective operations of the military forces or the maintenance of national interests during emergency; those in a status with respect to persons dependent upon them for support which renders their exclusion or discharge advisable, and those found to be physically or morally deficient. No exemption or exclusion shall continue when a cause thereof no longer exists: Provided, That notwithstanding the exemptions enumerated herein, each state, territory and District of Columbia shall be required to supply its quota in a proportion that its population bears of the United States.

Sec. 12. That the President of the United States, as the commander-in-chief of the army, is authorized to make such regulations governing prohibition of alcoholic liquors in or near military camps and to the officers and enlisted men of the army as he may from time to time deem necessary or advisable: Provided, That no person, corporation, partnership or association shall sell, supply or have in his or its possession intoxicating or spirituous liquors at any military station, cantonment, camp, fort, post, officers' or enlisted men's clubs, which is being used at the time for military purposes under this act, but the secretary of war may make regulations permitting the sale and use of intoxicating liquors for medical purposes. It shall be unlawful to sell any intoxicating liquor including beer, ale or wine, to any officer or member of the military forces while in uniform, except as herein provided. Any person, corporation, partnership or association violating the provisions of this section or the regulations made thereunder shall, unless otherwise punishable under the Articles of War, be deemed guilty of this misdemeanor and be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or imprisonment for not more than 12 months, or both.

THE MOTHER'S PART

The great institution of Mother's Day had its inception in time of world peace but grew out of a regard for the sacrifice of the Mother in past years. The sacrifice of the Mother in rearing her children and the tender devotion of the Mother for her children are elements second to none in the realm of love. It was to reward this inborn and nurtured trait that Miss Jarvis caused a day to be set aside for the glorification of Motherhood and for the rendering of homage to your Mother and my Mother in particular.

All the respect we may show our Mothers tomorrow will be in the nature of acknowledgement of our debts to her. A reward for a life well lived and a duty fulfilled in accordance with the Divine ordinance of God which provides for the perpetuation of the race. Only the Mother who has seen her family grow to its majority can fully appreciate the homage paid her on Mother's Day. The young Mother, happy in the performance of her duties in the new office of life, looks only at the present and is without the cares and anxieties of the period when her offspring are being carried on the wings of time through the all important interval of tender adolescence and young manhood and young womanhood.

This year Mother's Day will take on a new aspect and significance. The needs of the nation have become so apparent that Mothers are being called upon to make the supreme sacrifice—that of laying their husbands and sons on the altar of Patriotism. There is no choosing between Mother and Country, but love of country is patriotism and to love our country is to love the nation that protects your Mother and my Mother and in protecting this nation we are protecting the Motherhood of the world. The patriots of Uncle Sam are protecting the Mothers of Belgium and France and indirectly the Mothers of Germany in endeavoring to bring the world war to a quick and happy conclusion. Mothers are patriotically doing their part as they always do. They are making the sacrifice, as every Mother does, in order that others may have life and lifelong happiness. It is a new version of the Mothers' part. The Mother's part is a sad one. Days, perhaps years, of anxiety may be her part in this war. Men, on the other hand, know no danger when dressed in the uniform of Uncle Sam and march under the Stars and Stripes, going forth with enthusiasm and determination to wipe out the foe and emerge from the conflict with the banner of Humanity flying, sacrificed Motherhood exalted, and flit with the banner of Humanity flying nation's destiny.

Peace of mind is not the heritage of sacrificing Motherhood. In this respect Mother will pay the price of the war. It will be her burden and no one on earth can lighten that burden. She does not ask to have anyone share it. It is her part. She will do it. But at the mention of that brave lad's name who has enlisted, albeit, a tear has crept down the cheek, her eyes shine with pride to think that through him, she too is fighting in Freedom's cause, and thus she does her part.

Red Cross Mobilizes At Washington

Washington, May 12.—For the first time in history uniformed American women mobilized here today for the work of war.

The occasion was the dedication of the new $800,000 American Red Cross building, which was formally turned over to President Wilson as the head of that organization.

So busy is the Red Cross with war work that it was found impossible to suspend activities for today's exercises. Following the ceremonies the public was permitted to inspect the building, so far as that could be done without interfering with the work on the inside.

Secretary of War Baker, ex-officio chairman of the building commission presented the building to President Wilson in a short speech, and the President then reviewed the procession of Red Cross women workers.

The structure is built of dazzling white Vermont marble and is Georgian colonial in style. It was built with money contributed by congress and coming in private subscriptions from Capt. James A. Schrymser, of New York, Mrs. Russell Sage, Mrs. E. H. Harriman and the Rockefeller Foundation.

On Trial For Murder Of Young Woman

(By United Press)

Columbus, O., May 12.—Weldon H. Wells, 23, went on trial for his life here today. He was charged with the murder last winter of Mona Simpson, 26, whose body was found with a bullet hole through the head in a room at a fashionable hotel here.

Wells, whose home is in Huntington, Ind., was arrested there several days after the killing. He was brought back to Columbus.

Up until a short time before the crime was committed, Wells was employed as a broker's clerk in Kansas City, where his mother now lives.

Clearfielders To Join The Searching Party

No trace of little Arthur Caldwell has yet been found by the hundreds of men who have daily searched the mountains in the vicinity of his home near the little village of Rockton.

The Clearfield searchers arrived home after dark last night after a day spent in fruitless search.

Large crowds are again tramping the mountains today.

Burgess Callahan, County Commissioner Spencer and Representative Joseph E. Phillips are arranging for a systematic search for tomorrow and everybody who can possibly do so is urged to join in the expedition. Those able to go will meet at the court house about 8:30 in the morning as it is the intention to start for Rockton promptly at 9 o'clock.

All who can possibly do so are urged to go and those having automobiles are requested to offer them to transport the searchers to and from the scene.

The surrounding towns have been asked to send some representatives and it is the intention for all to meet at the Caldwell home at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning and organize a systematic search.

The lady's parents are almost distracted over his disappearance and the mother, who gave birth to a baby two weeks ago, is in a critical condition from the strain and worry.

All kinds of stories have been told regarding the boy's disappearance, but the consensus of opinion is that the little fellow became confused in the storm while endeavoring to get the cattle out of the woods and losing his way died from exposure.

Allen's Band in Town

Con Allen and his Holy Name band passed through Clearfield this morning for Altoona where they are scheduled to lead a patriotic day parade this afternoon.

'Jim' Is Boss Gardener At P. R. R. Depot

President of Council James F. Fletcher, who also presides over the destinies of the Pennsylvania Railroad company at the Third street passenger station, is getting ready to do his bit toward furnishing food for our warriors or stay-at-homes during the coming months.

Not content with flinging up his back yard garden Jim extended his first line trench down to the station property and has just received permission from Superintendent Johnston at Tyrone to farm the ground in the rear of the station.

After receiving the permission and a promise of seed at cost Jim mobilized his office force consisting of John Schiele and Joe Way and proceeded at once to dig up the garden patch.

Everything is now in readiness for the planting and when suitable weather arrives a proper start will be made. It is proposed to make this the banner garden patch of the Tyrone branch and, despite its German origin, the intensive farming methods which have made "Dowdy's Hole" (Jim's native heath) blossom as the rose, will be employed and results are guaranteed.

No sauer kraut plants, Dutch beets or pigs knuckles will be allowed.

TRAINED ANIMAL CIRCUS WILL BE HERE MAY 24

Small Boys Shout With Glee, Girls Think of Red Lemonade and "Dad" Thinks of Excuse

OF COURSE YOU WILL GO

The definite announcement is made that Cooke Brothers circus, the largest and most complete exhibition of its kind in the United States, will exhibit in this city Thursday, May 24.

This will be good news for all who thoroughly enjoy displays of trained animal intelligence. The Cooke Brothers show, it is announced, is not the ordinary, conventional animal exhibition, made up of a diluted program of tame acts and tamer animals, but a colossal congress of wild beasts, captured in the jungles by intrepid hunters, and taught by equally daring trainers to perform the most astonishing feats.

American circuses, as a rule, carry large or small menageries, as the case may be, but the Cooke Brothers' show is credited with being the only circus in America in which every animal in the big zoological display contributes in the infinite variety of the performance. While the menagerie in itself is notably interesting and educational because of the number and diversity of the wild animals, its value and interest are enhanced by the fact that, without exception, they have been trained to the limit of animal intelligence. There is a lion that sails aloft in a big balloon, while balancing upon a narrow trapeze; there are tigers and panthers that perform in unison, despite the fact that they are so ferocious as to constitute a perpetual menace to their trainers; there is a school of remarkably trained and human-like bears; there are educated leopards and jaguars and hyenas; there are big and little elephants that betray an almost uncanny intelligence; there are high-jumping horses and acting ponies and clown donkeys; there are troupes of acrobatic and bicycle-riding monkeys, and numberless other wonderfully trained beasts.

But, it is announced, this is not all the Cooke Brothers show offers for the entertainment of the public. In addition to the trained animal displays there is a high class acrobatic performance, in which many notable champions of the triple ring circus appear. These embrace world-famous somersault riders, daring experts on the flying trapeze, acrobats, ironjaw and bar performers, and many other clever artists. The performances are given in multiple rings on specially constructed elevated stages and in what is said to be the largest and best construction steel arena ever utilized for a wild animal exhibition. There will be two complete performances in this city, the

PRESS MUZZLER PART OF BILL IS KILLED

Senate Kills Censorship Phase In Gregory Measure By Tight Majority Vote of One

PRESS IS FREE TO CENSOR

(By United Press) Washington, May 12.—By a tight majority of one vote the Senate today struck out of the Gregory espionage bill the censorship provision that authorizes autocratic power to gag the press in any criticism of the government control of the war or the administration's international policy. The vote was 39 to 38. Fifty-four Democrats lined up with 24 Republicans to defeat the objectionable provision which has caused such a storm of criticism all over the country and in both houses of congress.

Senator Martin, Democratic floor leader was one of the Democrats that voted against the provision which Attorney General Gregory presented. The striking out of the censorship provision leaves the President without specific control over the press. The other provisions in the espionage bill, however, given the government ample room to use its influence on the press.

Action against war prohibition was revived in the senate today when Senator Cummins, of Iowa introduced an amendment to the espionage bill or "other estate things" in the prohibiting the use of grain, cereals, manufacture of intoxicants.

The message was sent to Stockholm, Copenhagen, The Hague, and Bern by the special request that its text be made known to the German socialists.

Japan Interferes With China In Taking Part In The World War

(By United Press)

Tokio, April 12.—By Mail.—Actual participation by China with the Allies in the war against Germany is being delayed by Japan's attitude towards three proposals made by China to the Allies.

This statement may be made on the authority of members of the Terauchi ministry and is based upon admissions by high Japanese officials.

Chinese diplomats, in pressing the three proposals, are showing themselves more astute than in some of their former diplomatic dealings, in what they make a declaration of war contingent upon the acceptance of these proposals.

But the date is not far distant when the Peking government actually will join hands with the entente powers and the United States is an actual state of warfare against the Teutons.

Allied diplomats in Peking who have been urging China to enter the war would prefer to consider her three requests apart from the main issue of joining them in the conflict. China's three conditions are: A revision of China's customs revenues, with a general increase; Postponement of payment of the Boxer indemnities; and Cancellation of the rule which restricts Chinese soldiers entering foreign concessions at Tientsin.

China, it is definitely known, made these proposals when the decision to break with Germany was reached on March 14 President Li Yuan-hung and his cabinet consider it vital that these three propositions be adopted favorably before China declares war.

Right here is where Japan enters with her objections. While the other entente nations seem ready to agree to most or all of these propositions, Japan considers them such as seriously to affect her welfare. Business interests which oppose an increase in China's customs revenues would violently oppose any act of the Terauchi government granting such increases.

Opponents of the government say the government is likely to grant China's demands, but is waiting until after the elections of April 20 in order not to endanger its success in winning the backing of the house of representatives. In the elections of April 20 the Terauchi government was upheld by a vote of 216 to 165.

At a recent conference of allied diplomats at Peking, they discussed China's proposition and the result was favorable to China, but Japanese representatives pleaded for more time.

We have found real motor truck construction—not converted pleasure cars, designed to carry moderate loads. The Smith Form-a-Truck attachment itself carries 90 per cent of the load, and merely utilizes proved power plants to complete the design. Any one of these power plants is wonderfully adapted to motor truck service, meeting every requirement of efficient motor operation.

We Have Found These Low Costs

Eight cents a ton-mile is the average hauling cost, exclusive of driver's wages, which is being charged up by Smith Form-a-Truck users.

6,000 to 8,000 miles per set of tires. 12 to 18 miles per gallon of gasoline, and a delivery speed of from 12 to 15 miles an hour are the average records.

And these features of operation and service will be yours as soon as you install your Smith Form-a-Truck equipment.

We Have Found Every Body Used on Smith Form-a-Truck

Used on Smith Form-a-Truck, we have found every body, including a remarkable Eight-in-One Convertible Farm Body, which gives farm owners every type of farm wagon that could possibly be used, any one of which can be obtained in a minute simply by the manipulation of a few levers.

And we have found Smith Form-a-Truck not only equipped with every type of body ever designed for a motor truck, but we have found them doing emergency work hauling heavily loaded trailers. There is no work you could require that Smith Form-a-Truck cannot do for you.

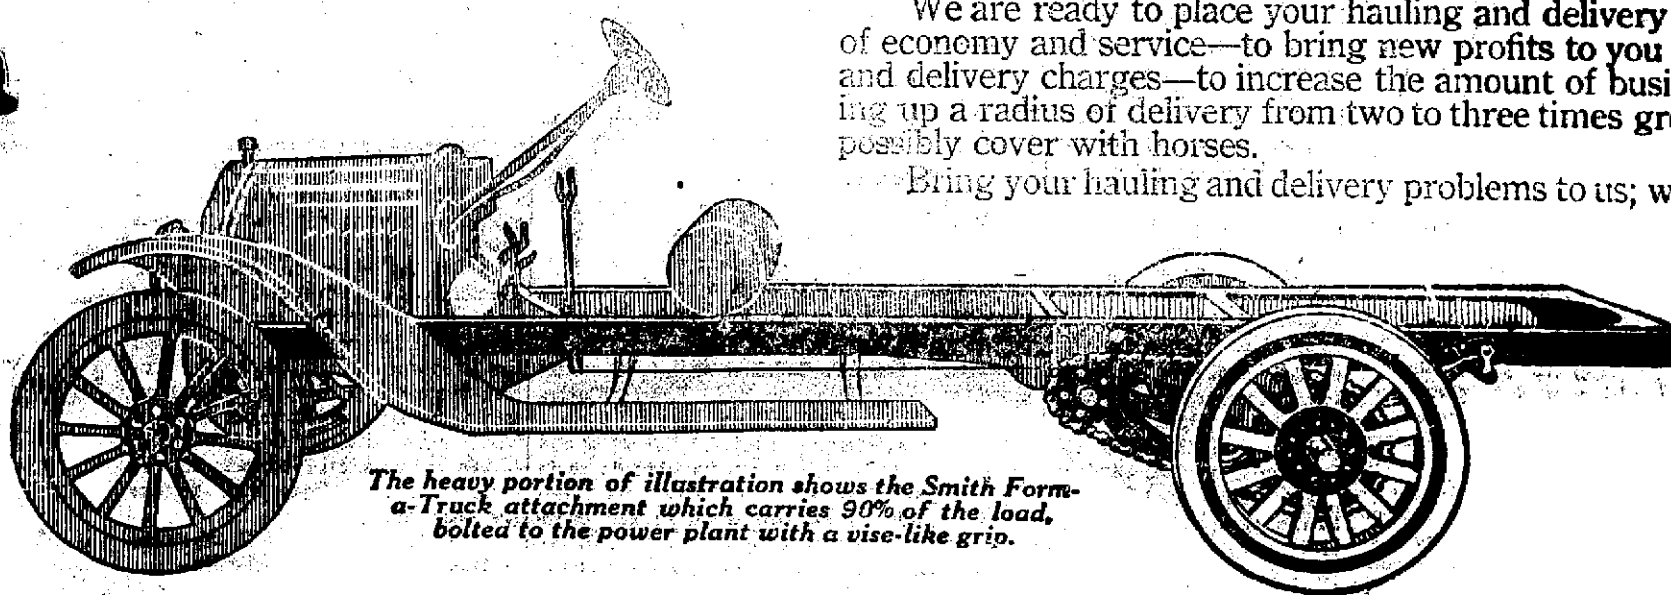

We Have Installed Big Service Facilities

To take care of the tremendous demand which must come from every user of hauling or delivery service, we have installed a big service station, big facilities to meet every demand Smith Form-a-Truck owners can make upon us. This service station—these big facilities—are at your disposal.

We are ready to place your hauling and delivery on an entirely new basis of economy and service—to bring new profits to you through reduced hauling and delivery charges—to increase the amount of business you can do by opening up a radius of delivery from two to three times greater than that you could possibly cover with horses.

Bring your hauling and delivery problems to us; we will solve them for you.

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW

Druggist Says Ladies are Using Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur

Hair that loses its color and lustre or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmothers made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old time recipe.

Nowadays we get the famous mixture, improved by the addition of other ingredients, by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, but what pleases the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that it does not beautify the hair, it keeps it after a few applications it becomes back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet remedy to improve color and a genuine preparation to the hair. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

Lee Garage Contemplate Making Many Changes in Near Future

That the automobile as a medium of both business and pleasure has come to stay as chiefly an American institution has long been known from Maine to California, and no place within the broad confines of the great American continent has this fact been more plainly apparent than, right here in Clearfield, where the rapid strides in the development of the business of selling and handling the different makes of machine has really been a revelation to everybody.

A few short years ago one small garage and agency was struggling in our midst for a foothold at the door way of existence, while today the up-to-date automobile shops dot almost every street and the exactions and demands of the rapidly increasing business are urging the dealers to almost daily improvement and enlargement of their facilities for handling and merchandising this great American vehicle of convenience.

No other invention of modern times struck such a popular public chord as the automobile. It is typically American and is the necessary safety valve and convenience for our nervous American energy, with the result that the limitations of the business are bounded by the last demand of the trade.

As the automobile is the real vehicle of convenience its devotee demands an equal measure of convenience of display, supply, repairs, etc. That this is so is again demonstrated by the many automobile stores, garages and workshops springing up on every side in every American town and hamlet.

Right here in Clearfield we are exceptionally well supplied along this line and about the most progressive of our many establishments is that of the Lee Garage company, which by careful business methods and up-to-date merchandising has rapidly forged to the front and is recognized as the leading establishment in this line in this section of the state.

Their business has been growing by leaps and bounds and so far outgrew their present quarters that a much larger and more commodious establishment was found to be absolutely necessary.

Accordingly the Pinkelner property, corner of Third and Locust streets was purchased and plans prepared for the erection of the most modern and up-to-date garage to be found in Central Pennsylvania. Due to war times and the impossibility of getting structural steel and the other necessary building materials at any price this spring the erection of the main building has been held up for the present.

However a handsome show room and accessory store building will be erected on the rear or north end of the lot, work on same having been begun this week. The new building will be 28x30 feet in size and two stories high, giving room for the display of but two cars and a complete supply of accessories, with a storage department on second floor. This building will be erected with an idea to the convenience of their customers and a sixteen foot driveway will surround it, making it possible for a machine to drive in off the street for its oil and gas and when supplied, continue right around the building into the alley and thence to the street, thus eliminating all backing and positioning of cars, but we finally picked the site of collision and accident. Everything in necessary line will be found here and competent clerks will be on hand at all times to cater to the wants of the trade. This building will have two fine big show windows in front each 8x7 feet in size with a window 5x7 feet on each side.

In addition to the display room and accessory store a repair shop 50x54 feet in size will be located in the A. J. Kline barn in the alley about one hundred feet west, where will be found a large corps of competent mechanics and the shop will be equipped with all necessary machinery and tools and repairs will be made here in the shortest possible time.

The Lee Garage company are agents for and will handle nothing but the famous and justly popular Cole and Overland automobiles and will be able to show you the "very last word" in these dependable makes at any time.

They are also sole agents for and will handle the United States, Fish and Republic tires.

On account of lack of room at this time, after May 15th they will be unable to store any cars and after June 1st will be unable to take any repairs except for their regular service.

The Lee Garage company is composed of up-to-date business men keenly alive to the rapid advancement of the automobile business and can be depended upon at all times and in every way.

Biggest Circus Uses Willys-Knight Cars

This Product Sold Locally by The Well Known Lee Garage

"The Flying Squadron" of the United States Circus corporation's "Million-Dollar" motorized circus will be mounted on Willys-Knight cars made by The Willys-Overland company of Toledo, Ohio. This decision has been made by Frank P. Spellman president of the big circus corporation, which will begin its big tour in May, opening in Ohio.

The first order placed by President Spellman with The Willys-Overland Company represents 15 cars, placed with the Toledo company after he had closely studied the records of express and taxicab companies which are using the Willys-Knights. The purchase includes five 1200-pound Delivery Wagons, three big roadsters, and the remainder Willys-Knight Fours and Eights.

President Spellman will use two of the cars—one, a graceful touring Sedan, equipped especially for his exclusive use while on the road, and the other will be fitted with a beautiful parade body and will head the motorized street parade each day.

With three exceptions, the remaining cars will be utilized entirely for the advance advertising and press department, composing what President Spellman has designated as "The Flying Squadron."

Careful investigation of the merits of the motor units of the United States circus corporation's equipment was made in each case before an order was placed. Regarding the Willys-Overland product, President Spellman says:

"We had many flattering offers from various companies to purchase their cars, but we finally picked the cars manufactured by The Willys-Overland company as best for our purpose because of the unusual record this type of motor has established throughout the country.

"Before making our decision, we talked to the heads of many big taxicab companies throughout the United States. All were unanimous in their praise of the 865-day-in-the-year service which their Willys-Knights were rendering.

"The motor that can stand the gaff under the strenuous demand made on it by taxi service is the type of motor that will serve us best in our travels across the country in all kinds of weather and over all sorts of roads, as we will have little time to waste to have carbon cleaned out of an engine, or to have valves re-ground or other adjustments made. Because of its construction, need for this is entirely eliminated from the Willys-Knight motor."

(United Press Staff Correspondent) New York, May 12.—Hans Wagner's failure to show up this spring and the continued absence of his name from the box-scores is only one of many similar absences. Famous athletes who have played the game for many long years are out, now, and others of the veterans brigade are slowly slipping back to private life.

Sam Crawford is about the only one of the old-time school of ball players left in the big leagues, and Sam's principal duty is to bat in the pinches. Recently he has been playing first base.

Napoleon Lajoie, grand old man of the second suckers, is not a major leaguer this year. He is managing a club in the International league—out of the fight in the big circuits for the first time in more years than many baseball players have lived.

John Evers, main-spring of the old Cubs, and principal cog in the new Braves, is a bench warmer these days. A strained shoulder and strained nerves have combined to keep him out of active participation.

Wagner's case is just a matter of growing old for the game. Rheumatism has attacked the wonderful old fellow. His eyes are not so good as

The more serious the purchase of a car is to your family, the more seriously you should consider Overland.

Consider what a guarantee it is to own a car backed by a company with $68,000,000 assets; with an army of workmen that would populate a good sized city; with acres and acres of modern factories, and more than 4,000 dealers and branches.

The magnitude of The Willys-Overland Company is due to its management, due to the practical policy of utilizing prodigious production as a means to higher quality and lower prices.

The Willys-Overland Company guards its obligation to the owners of its cars as seriously as a conservative bank protects the interest of its depositors, large and small.

The Willys-Overland is predicated upon the need for cars of beauty, comfort and convenience in addition to long-lived utility.

The average family can participate in the luxuries of motoring because hundreds of thousands of other owners enable The Willys-Overland Company to distribute and bring down costs.

Such a car as the Overland Big Four would never have been possible at such a price as $895 had it not been for over 300,000 similar Overlands which have already gone into service.

Come in and see the Overland Big Four and the most comprehensive line of motor cars ever built by any one producer.

Don't forget your Mother tomorrow.

Mother's Day will be celebrated in nearly all of the churches tomorrow. You old moss backs who have gotten out of the habit should remember the admonitions of your Mother and go tomorrow out of respect to her.

Registration Day has no terrors for the patriot. Every last man who walks up to the registrar will walk more erect after having offered his services to Uncle Sam who has protected him and given him the best country on the face of the globe in which to live.

The greatest men of the nation are advocating industrial equilibrium. Industry should not be stifled by "jingo" talk. Business must go on. The property owner can do no better thing for the near future than to keep it in good repair and improve his holdings. There are plenty of luxuries we can cut out before hurting legitimate business.

A patriotic citizen of Clearfield will make a suggestion to Clearfielders on Monday that is worthy of comment and consideration. He is one of the many who are unable under present circumstances to shoulder a musket and do his bit. He desires, however, to pay homage to those who have done so and will unfold his plans to the public through the columns of The Progress on Monday. We will say nothing more about it now but watch for it on Monday.

Everyone who can should join the search for the Rockton lad tomorrow. The little lad has no doubt lost his life by this time but it will be a great blessing to a frantic mother and awe stricken community to have the mystery cleared up even though they find he has met his death. A large number of men will leave Clearfield tomorrow morning at about eight-thirty and all who have machines should join in the search and help relieve the tension in the little hamlet of Rockton.

The Result of Thrift--- INDEPENDENCE

The practice of thrift is financial preparedness. When the opportunity offers to make a profitable investment, the man who has the Thrift Habit is ready to take advantage of it.

You sign your personal "Declaration of Financial Independence" when you start to practice Thrift with the WILL to make it a life habit.

It is in your own hands. Will you be independent; or will you be one of the 90 per cent. who are dependent on others in their old age?

Let us help you to become financially independent.

SAYS WE BECOME CRANKS ON HOT WATER DRINKING

Hopes every man and woman adopts this splendid morning habit

Why is man and woman, half the time, feeling nervous, despondent, worried; some days really incapacitated by illness.

If we all would practice inside-bathing, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of thousands of half-sick, anaemic-looking souls with pasty, muddy complexions, we should see crowds of happy, healthy, rosy-cheeked people everywhere. The reason is that the human system does not rid itself each day of all the waste which it accumulates under our present mode of living. For every ounce of food and drink taken into the system nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out, else it ferments and forms ptomaine-like poisons which are absorbed into the blood.

Just as necessarily as it is to clean the ashes from the furnace each day, before the fire will burn bright and hot, so we must each morning clear the inside organs of the previous day's accumulation of indigestible waste and body toxins. Men and women, whether sick or well, are advised to drink each morning, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of washing out of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the indigestible material, waste, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Millions of people who had their turn at constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach, nervous days and sleepless nights have become real cranks about the morning inside-bath. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will not cost much at the drug store, but is sufficient to demonstrate to anyone its cleansing, sweetening and freshening effect upon the system.

The Whatchama Column

MONOCLES

The monocle is a fraction of a pair of glasses worn by a fraction of a human being. It is fettered to its position by heaven knows what. Usually the wearer sends his eyebrow down to hold it in check. If the eyebrow has got to go upstairs to emphasize a thought or something, the monocle's fall is certain. This situation is overcome by having the monocle on a leash. A long, wide, funeral ribbon leash. This gives it enough of a fall to scare the wits out of it and keep it subdued, but not enough to dash its glass out on the rocks below. To obtain a monocle all you have to do is to go into an optician's shop and order a half portion of spectacles. Though why in heaven's name anyone should want to obtain one is more than we can understand.

UNDERTAKER KNIVES VISITING NURSE

Cincinnati, May 11.—The visiting nurse as a menace to undertakers' business was discussed before the national convention of the Society for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis here today.

Miss Fanny F. Clements of Washington, D. C., superintendent of the Town and County Nursing Service, told of a mining town in a western state, where for eighteen months a visiting nurse worked with great success. Then, suddenly, the girl found her financial support had been withdrawn by vote of the town board.

Of the three board members who cast the majority vote, one was an undertaker who frankly said he opposed the nurse because since her arrival there had been a great falling off of infant funerals. Another owned an unsanitary barn next to the school house. It had been torn down on complaint of the nurse. The third owned property not connected for sewage as the law required.

The county sanitarium as the unit and leader in every phase of anti-tuberculosis work was urged by George J. Neltch, assistant secretary of the State Charities Aid Association of New York. A wide awake sanitarium employing a visiting nurse, will ferret out the suspected or concealed cases. Its superintendent will hold clinics, and a system of after-care for discharged patients will be inaugurated.

DISPUTING ABOUT SOLUTION OF THE U-BOAT MENACE

William L. Saunders, chairman of the Naval Consulting Board, issued a statement that a solution of the German submarine menace had been found. Thereupon great efforts were made to have him retract the statement. Later Lawrence Addicks, chairman of the sub-committee which has the subject in hand, issued a statement in which he said only "good and satisfactory progress" toward solving the problem of doing away with German submarines had been made.

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take Salts to flush kidneys and neutralize irritating acids.

Kidney and bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood, and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

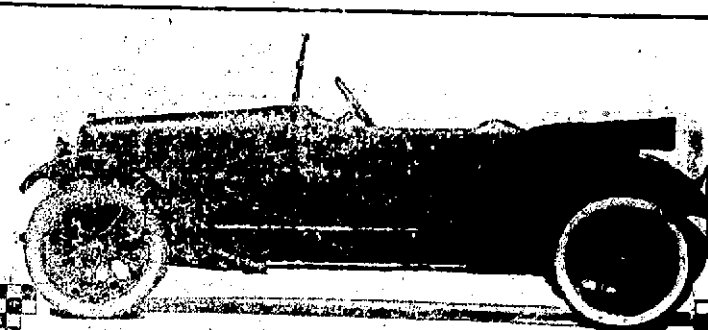

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and cause no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.

Right now it appears that the candidus grubbed a promising recruit when they signed their new president.

Russian Duma Said To Be Prisoners

Not Exactly Held By Force But Uncertainty Prevails Naton

By Wm. G. Shepherd.
Petrograd, May 12.—Anxiety of the plain public of Russia intending to bridge the chasm of the autocracy that was and the democracy that is to be—without carefully looking over the bridge—menaced Russia today. "Workmen and socialists do not have confidence in the Duma leaders who are practically under arrest in their own house," is the summary of the situation by delegate Shalgin. Deputy Boticheff declared in an impassioned address in the Duma that "all honest Russian hearts are with you. Even your opponents are backing you, and your name will be blessed as long as the Russian language is spoken."

The Sophomore class of the Clearfield High school gave the annual banquet to their sister class the seniors last evening in the gymnasium of the new High school building.

The party was one of the most important social affairs of the school year and great preparations were made in order to entertain the seniors in such a manner that they shall long remember after they have left dear old High.

The energetic Sophomores had decorated the gym most appropriately and beautifully in Red and white and blue.

Miss Alice Smith at the piano and Kenneth Thorn with the traps furnished excellent music for the dancers while the rest spent a merry evening playing games. About eleven o'clock an excellent banquet supper was served.

THEDA BARA FINDS WALKS IN MORNING HELP HER ACTING

Her Advice to Beginners is: Take Advantage of Early Hour Freshness

According to tradition, the main value of daylight to actors is for sleeping purposes. Theda Bara defies tradition.

The famous William Fox actress, who will be seen in "The Vixen" at the Globe Theatre Monday afternoon and night, often rises early in the morning, and takes walks along the Hudson river to get the fresh air and sunshine which are of so much help in her art.

"The time before most other persons have breakfasted," says Miss Bara, "is the best part of the day. One feels invigorated and refreshed by the sweetness of the air, and there are no jostling crowds along the streets to interfere with one's freedom."

"Morning is the only time of the day that I could dare to walk in the open. At other times have to close myself securely in my limousine, and turn my back toward the crowds, or I should be worried by people staring into the car. I couldn't think of walking at any other hour."

"Morning is also the most interesting part of the day. It is then that one can see the real workers of the city. Occasionally some poor wreck of the night before drifts by on his way home. But most persons seem happy and contented, so that the whole atmosphere is filled with freshness and peace."

"I find that short walks in the morning prepare me better for my work during the day. I can think more clearly and infuse more spirit into my art. My advice to those who want to rise to places of prominence in the photoplay is this:

"Take plenty of morning air, and you'll work better."

BLACK ORCHIDS

The ignominious fate of Zoraida, beautiful creature of Rex Ingram's fancy, who won men's love and then jilted them, will serve as a lesson to flittatious maidens when "Black Orchids" is displayed in Bluebird Photoplays at the Tent Movies theatre this evening, with Cleo Madison playing the leading role. There is a tense and tragic interest in the progress of Zoraida's heartless treatment of men who fawned at her feet—there is a great and purposeful mission in this gripping photoplay.

SUNDAY SCHOOL

Lesson VII.—Second Quarter, For May 13, 1917.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, John xv, 1-16. Memory Verses, 7, 8—Golden Text, John xv, 1—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Sisearne.

It certainly does seem strange to have no lesson given from John xiv or xv, but we must not pass them by. It is true that part of chapter xiv was suggested in connection with the last review, but that gave no opportunity for the study of such a chapter.

In the end of yesterday's lesson chapter Peter insisted that he was ready to lay down his life for Christ's sake, but the Lord, who knew all that was in him, said that the cock would not crow before Peter would thrice deny Him (xiii, 36-38). If our Lord immediately added the words, "Let not your heart be troubled," and the words following He would seem to say: Although I know you so well, Peter, and how weak you are, I would not have you troubled, for some day I will get you all home to the mansions prepared for you, and then there will be no more failure on your part, but you will each have a throne and reign with me over the tribes of Israel (Luke xiii, 29-30). "It is really pathetic to hear Him say to Philip, 'Have I been so long a time with you, and yet hast thou not known Me?' (xiv, 9). But that was His continual lament. Israel did not know. They knew not the thoughts of the Lord. If thou hadst known O righteous Father, the world hath not known Thee (Isa. i, 3; Mic. vi, 12; Luke xiv, 42; John xvii, 25). If we only knew Him, and through Him the Father, how very different the life of a believer would be! If the Comforter, the Spirit of Truth, had full control of us, then the peace of God would rule in our hearts. We would neither be troubled nor afraid. We would ask and receive to the glory of God, and it would be manifest to others that the Father, Son and Holy Spirit were making their home in us (xiv, 13, 14, 16, 17, 23, 26, 27). The one thing that we are here for, as the Lord's redeemed ones, is to bear fruit, more fruit, much fruit, that He may be glorified (xv, 1-8). The fruit of the Spirit is fully described in Gal. v, 22-23, and all else is from the evil one, the prince of this world of John xiv, 30. According to Ezek. xv, the vine is good for nothing if it does not bear fruit, for nothing can be made of the wood of it.

In Ps. lxxxv, 8-15, Israel is spoken of as a vine out of Egypt which filled the land and covered the hills, a vineyard which His right hand had planted, but which the enemy had wasted. In Isa. v, 1-7, He again speaks of Israel as His vineyard and the men of Judah His pleasant plant and asks, "What could have been done more to my vineyard that I have not done in it?" Then He expresses surprise that instead of the grapes He should have had she gave Him only wild grapes; instead of righteousness, oppression. All is only failure, and always failure on man's side, and never but in one instance could the Father say, "In Him I am well pleased," and only He could say, "I do always those things that please Him" (Matt. xvii, 5; John viii, 29). He is the True Vine, the True Bread, the True Light, the True Tabernacle, the Truth. He never failed in any detail of His life, and He cannot fail to accomplish all that He has purposed. He is also the Branch of the Lord, beautiful and glorious. David's righteous Branch, the King who shall reign and prosper; the servant of the Branch, the man whose name is the Branch, who shall build the temple of the Lord (Isa. lv, 2; Jer. xxiii, 5; Zech. iii, 8; vi, 12). He is the only source of all fruit, for apart from Him we are nothing and can do nothing (verse 5), and He is our only example. As the wise husbandman prunes his vines, even though they bleed, and ties them up and trains them as seems best to him, we must not think Him unwise or unkind if He deals so with us, but consider Him who endured for us; who, though He were a Son, yet learned obedience by the things which He suffered (Heb. xii, 3; v, 8). As He lived in His Father's love, so He would have us live in His love and remember that love is always kind (verse 9 and I Cor. xiii, 4).

It should not be difficult to let such love have its own way with us; but, not having always the assurance that it is love, because it does not look to us like it, we waver and fail. Hudson Taylor thought that it is weakness that abides, so if we are consciously weak we may always abide. Some perplexing sayings in this lesson will seem not difficult if we remember that He was talking to true disciples, eleven really saved men, and the truths concerning fruit bearing were for these and all saved people. From I Cor. iii, 14, 15, we learn that it is possible to be saved and yet bear no fruit. In view of the fact that He knew that Jerusalem was before Him that night and Gethsemane the next day, how could He speak of His joy and the desire that it might be in them? (Verse 11.) It must have been the joy of Heb. xii, 2, to which He has not yet fully come and which should ever be before us if we would meekly bear the hatred and opposition of the world, which will hate us if we are like Him (verses 18-25). Think of our being chosen in Him before the foundation of the world (Eph. i, 4) and obtained by Him to bear abiding fruit.

The suspension of Tris Speaker stopper his batting for a few days, but his batting average didn't shrink.

The Dog: "Home'll never seem the same."

The Cat: "Nope. Since the Missus went down to Powell's Hardware store and got all those things for this Spring clean-up there's no more traipsing in and out for us. But, you ought to see how that STAINFLOOR FINISH has made things look brighter; the ALABASTINE on the walls is better than paper; the woodwork has been done over with MASURY'S READY MIXED PAINT; the rooms that were not papered were cleaned with CLIMAX WALLPAPER CLEANER. All Citizens Should Study Conscription Rules and Orders

A Thorough Understanding of Its Provisions Will Minimize Work of Registering Officials

NO ONE CAN DUY SUBSTITUTE FOR ARMY

While space does not permit us to publish in full the selective conscription bill, which is about to become a law following the agreement of the House and Senate conferees, we give below for the purpose of public information the vital sections of the new military bill.

AN ACT to authorize the President to increase temporarily the military establishment of the United States.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, that in view of the existing emergency, which demands the raising of troops in addition to those now available, the President be, and he is hereby, authorized—

First. Immediately to raise, organize, officer and equip all or such number of increments of the regular army provided by the national defense act approved June 3, 1916, or such parts thereof as he may deem necessary; to raise all organizations of the regular army, including those added by such increments to the maximum enlisted strength authorized by law. Vacancies in the regular army created or caused by the addition of increments as herein authorized, which can not be filled by promotion may be filled by temporary appointment for the period of the emergency or until replaced by provisional appointments made under the provisions of section 23 of the national defense act, approved June, 1916, and hereafter provisional appointments under said section may be terminated whenever it is determined, in the manner prescribed by the President, that the officer has not the suitability and fitness requisite for permanent appointment.

Second. To draft into the military service of the United States, organize and officer in accordance with the provisions of section 111 of said national defense act, so far as the provisions of said section may be applicable and not inconsistent with the term of this act, any or all members of the National Guard and of the National Guard reserve, and said members so drafted into the military service of the United States shall serve therein for the period of the existing emergency unless sooner discharged. Provided, That when so drafted the organizations or units of the National Guard shall so far as practicable, retain the state destinations of their respective organization.

Third. To raise by draft as herein provided, organize and equip an additional force of 500,000 enlisted men such part or parts thereof as he may at any time deem necessary, and to provide the necessary officers, line and staff, for said force and for organizations of the other forces hereby authorized or by combining organizations of said other forces.

Sec. 2 That the enlisted men required to raise and maintain the organizations of the regular army and to complete and maintain the organizations embodying the members of the National Guard drafted into the service of the United States, at the maximum legal strength as by this act provided, shall be raised by voluntary enlistment, or if and whenever the President decides that they cannot effectually be so raised or maintained, then by selective draft; and all other forces hereby authorized, shall be raised and maintained by selective draft exclusively, but this provision shall not prevent the transfer to any force of training cadres from other forces. Such drafts shall be based upon liability to any service of all male citizens or male persons not alien enemies who have declared their intention to be citizens, between the ages of twenty one and thirty years, both inclusive, and shall take place and be maintained under such regulations as the President may prescribe not inconsistent with the terms of this act.

Sec. 3. No bounty shall be paid to induce any person to enlist in the military service of the United States and no person liable to military service shall hereafter be permitted or allowed to furnish a substitute for such service; nor shall any substitute be received, enlisted or enrolled in the military service of the United States; and no such person shall be permitted to escape such service or to be discharged therefrom prior to the expiration of his term of service by the payment of money, or any other valuable thing whatsoever as consideration for his release from military service or liability thereto.

Sec. 4. That the Vice President of the United States, the officers, legislative, executive and judicial, of the United States and of the several states, territories and the District of Columbia, regular or duty obtained minister of religion, students who at the time of the approval of this act are preparing for the ministry in recognized theological or divinity schools and all persons in the military and naval service of the United States shall be exempt from the selective draft herein prescribed and nothing in this act contained shall be construed to require or compel any person to serve in any of the forces herein provided for who is found to be a member of any well recognized religious sect or organization at present organized and existing and whose existing creed or principles forbid its members to participate in war of any form and whose religious convictions are against war or participation therein accordance with the creed of principles of said religious organization, but no persons shall be exempted from service in any capacity that the President shall declare to be non-combatant; and the President is hereby authorized to exclude or discharge from said selective draft and from the draft under the second paragraph of section 1, or to draft for partial military service from those liable to draft as in this act provided, persons of the following classes: County and municipal official, custom house clerks, persons employed by the United States in the transmission of the mails, artificers and workmen employed in the armories, arsenals and navy yards of the United States, and such other persons employed in service of the United States as the President may designate, pilots, marines actually employed in the sea service of any citizen or merchant within the United States, persons engaged in industries, including agriculture, found to be necessary to the maintenance of the military establishment or the effective operations of the military forces or the maintenance of national interests during emergency; those in a status with respect to persons dependent upon them for support which renders their exclusion or discharge advisable, and those found to be physically or morally deficient. No exemption or exclusion shall continue when a cause thereof no longer exists: Provided, That notwithstanding the exemptions enumerated herein, each state, territory and District of Columbia shall be required to supply its quota in a proportion that its population bears of the United States.

Sec. 12. That the President of the United States, as the commander-in-chief of the army, is authorized to make such regulations governing prohibition of alcoholic liquors in or near military camps and to the officers and enlisted men of the army as he may from time to time deem necessary or advisable: Provided, That no person, corporation, partnership or association shall sell, supply or have in his or its possession intoxicating or spirituous liquors at any military station, cantonment, camp, fort, post, officers' or enlisted men's clubs, which is being used at the time for military purposes under this act, but the secretary of war may make regulations permitting the sale and use of intoxicating liquors for medical purposes. It shall be unlawful to sell any intoxicating liquor including beer, ale or wine, to any officer or member of the military forces while in uniform, except as herein provided. Any person, corporation, partnership or as-

The great institution of Mother's Day had its inception in time of world peace but grew out of a regard for the sacrifice of the Mother in past years. The sacrifice of the Mother in rearing her children and the tender devotion of the Mother for her children are elements second to none in the realm of love. It was to reward this inborn and nurtured trait that Miss Jarvis caused a day to be set aside for the glorification of Motherhood and for the rendering of homage to your Mother and my Mother in particular.

All the respect we may show our Mothers tomorrow will be in the nature of acknowledgement of our debts to her. A reward for a life well lived and a duty fulfilled in accordance with the Divine ordinance of God which provides for the perpetuation of the race. Only the Mother who has seen her family grow to its majority can fully appreciate the homage paid her on Mother's Day. The young Mother, happy in the performance of her duties in the new office of life, looks only at the present and is without the cares and anxieties of the period when her offspring are being carried on the wings of time through the all important interval of tender adolescence and young manhood and young womanhood.

This year Mother's Day will take on a new aspect and significance. The needs of the nation have become so apparent that Mothers are being called upon to make the supreme sacrifice—that of laying their husbands and sons on the altar of Patriotism. There is no choosing between Mother and Country, but love of country is patriotism and to love our country is to love the nation that protects your Mother and my Mother and in protecting this nation we are protecting the Motherhood of the world. The patriots of Uncle Sam are protecting the Mothers of Belgium and France and indirectly the Mothers of Germany in endeavoring to bring the world war to a quick and happy conclusion. Mothers are patriotically doing their part as they always do. They are making the sacrifice, as every Mother does, in order that others may have life and lifelong happiness. It is a new version of the Mothers' part. The Mother's part is a sad one. Days, perhaps years, of anxiety may be her part in this war. Men, on the other hand, know no danger when dressed in the uniform of Uncle Sam and march under the Stars and Stripes, going forth with enthusiasm and determination to wipe out the foe and emerge from the conflict with the banner of Humanity flying, sacrificed Motherhood exalted, and flit with the banner of Humanity flying nation's destiny.

Peace of mind is not the heritage of sacrificing Motherhood. In this respect Mother will pay the price of the war. It will be her burden and no one on earth can lighten that burden. She does not ask to have anyone share it. It is her part. She will do it. But at the mention of that brave lad's name who has enlisted, albeit, a tear has crept down the cheek, her eyes shine with pride to think that through him, she too is fighting in Freedom's cause, and thus she does her part.

Red Cross Mobilizes At Washington

Washington, May 12.—For the first time in history uniformed American women mobilized here today for the work of war.

The occasion was the dedication of the new $800,000 American Red Cross building, which was formally turned over to President Wilson as the head of that organization.

So busy is the Red Cross with war work that it was found impossible to suspend activities for today's exercises. Following the ceremonies the public was permitted to inspect the building, so far as that could be done without interfering with the work on the inside.

Secretary of War Baker, ex-officio chairman of the building commission presented the building to President Wilson in a short speech, and the President then reviewed the procession of Red Cross women workers. The structure is built of dazzling white Vermont marble and is Georgian colonial in style. It was built with money contributed by congress and coming in private subscriptions from Capt. James A. Schrymser, of New York, Mrs. Russell Sage, Mrs. E. H. Harriman and the Rockefeller Foundation.

On Trial For Murder Of Young Woman

(By United Press)
Columbus, O., May 12.—Weldon H. Wells, 23, went on trial for his life here today. He was charged with the murder last winter of Mona Simpson, 26, whose body was found with a bullet hole through the head in a room at a fashionable hotel here.

Wells, whose home is in Huntington, Ind., was arrested there several days after the killing. He was brought back to Columbus.

Up until a short time before the crime was committed, Wells was employed as a broker's clerk in Kansas City, where his mother now lives. Prosecution violating the provisions of this section or the regulations made thereunder shall, unless otherwise punishable under the Articles of War, be deemed guilty of this misdemeanor and be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or imprisonment for not more than 12 months, or both.

Clearfielders To Join The Searching Party

No trace of little Arthur Caldwell has yet been found by the hundreds of men who have daily searched the mountains in the vicinity of his home near the little village of Rockton.

The Clearfield searchers arrived home after dark last night after a day spent in fruitless search.

Large crowds are again tramping the mountains today.

Burgess Callahan, County Commissioner Spencer and Representative Joseph E. Phillips are arranging for a systematic search for tomorrow and everybody who can possibly do so is urged to join in the expedition. Those able to go will meet at the court house about 8:30 in the morning as it is the intention to start for Rockton promptly at 9 o'clock.

Mr. Mackie is not fully decided as to his occupation for the summer, but will likely spend some time at his home in Clearfield, until some form of military service engages his attention. Mr. Mackie has been active in the student life of Ohio Wesleyan, especially in athletics, having been a member of last fall's football squad and a regular on the present season's baseball team.

'Jim' Is Boss Gardener At P. R. R. Depot

President of Council James F. Fletcher, who also presides over the destinies of the Pennsylvania Railroad company at the Third street passenger station, is getting ready to do his bit toward furnishing food for our warriors or stay-at-homes during the coming months. Not content with flinging up his back yard garden Jim extended his first line trench down to the station property and has just received permission from Superintendent Johnston at Tyrone to farm the ground in the rear of the station.

After receiving the permission and a promise of seed at cost Jim mobilized his office force consisting of John Schiele and Joe Way and proceeded at once to dig up the garden patch.

Everything is now in readiness for the planting and when suitable weather arrives a proper start will be made. It is proposed to make this the banner garden patch of the Tyrone branch and, despite its German origin, the intensive farming methods which have made "Dowdy's Hole" (Jim's native heath) blossom as the rose, will be employed and results are guaranteed.

No sauer kraut plants, Dutch beets or pigs knuckles will be allowed.

TRAINED ANIMAL CIRCUS WILL BE HERE MAY 24

Small Boys Shout With Glee, Girls Think of Red Lemonade and "Dad" Thinks of Excuse

OF COURSE YOU WILL GO

The definite announcement is made that Cooke Brothers circus, the largest and most complete exhibition of its kind in the United States, will exhibit in this city Thursday, May 24. This will be good news for all who thoroughly enjoy displays of trained animal intelligence. The Cooke Brothers show, it is announced, is not the ordinary, conventional animal exhibition, made up of a diluted program of tame acts and tamer animals, but a colossal congress of wild beasts, captured in the jungles by intrepid hunters, and taught by equally daring trainers to perform the most astonishing feats.

American circuses, as a rule, carry large or small menageries, as the case may be, but the Cooke Brothers' show is credited with being the only circus in America in which every animal in the big zoological display contributes in the infinite variety of the performance. While the menagerie in itself is notably interesting and educational because of the number and diversity of the wild animals, its value and interest are enhanced by the fact that, without exception, they have been trained to the limit of animal intelligence. There is a lion that sails aloft in a big balloon, while balancing upon a narrow trapeze; there are tigers and pumas that perform in unison, despite the fact that they are so ferocious as to constitute a perpetual menace to their trainers; there is a school of remarkably trained and human-like bears; there are educated leopards and jaguars and hyenas; there are big and little elephants that betray an almost uncanny intelligence; there are high-jumping horses and acting ponies and clown donkeys; there are troupes of acrobatic and bicycle-riding monkeys, and numberless other wonderfully trained beasts.

But, it is announced, this is not all the Cooke Brothers show offers for the entertainment of the public. In addition to the trained animal displays there is a high class acrobatic performance, in which many notable champions of the triple ring circus appear. These embrace world-famous somersault riders, daring experts on the flying trapeze, acrobats, ironjaw and bar performers, and many other clever artists. The performances are given in multiple rings on specially constructed elevated stages and in what is said to be the largest and best construction steel arena ever utilized for a wild animal exhibition. There will be two complete performances in this city, the first at 2 in the afternoon and the final one at 8 in the evening. Doors will be opened one hour earlier to permit the public to inspect the various displays and to enjoy the preliminary street parade takes place at 10:30 in the morning of the exhibition.

Japan Interferes With China In Taking Part In The World War

(By United Press)
Tokio, April 12.—By Mail.—Actual participation by China with the Allies in the war against Germany is being delayed by Japan's attitude towards three proposals made by China to the Allies.

This statement may be made on the authority of members of the Terauchi ministry and is based upon admissions by high Japanese officials. Chinese diplomats, in pressing the three proposals, are showing themselves more astute than in some of their former diplomatic dealings, in what they make a declaration of war contingent upon the acceptance of these proposals.

But the date is not far distant when the Peking government actually will join hands with the entente powers and the United States is an actual state of warfare against the Teutons. Allied diplomats in Peking who have been urging China to enter the war would prefer to consider her three requests apart from the main issue of joining them in the conflict. China's three conditions are:

A revision of China's customs revenues, with a general increase; Postponement of payment of the Boxer indemnities; and Cancellation of the rule which re-

PRESS MUZZLER PART OF BILL IS KILLED

Senate Kills Censorship Plans In Gregory Measure By Tight Majority Vote of One

PRESS IS FREE TO CENSOR

(By United Press)
Washington, May 12.—By a tight majority of one vote the Senate today struck out of the Gregory espionage bill the censorship provision that authorizes autocratic power to gag the press in any criticism of the government control of the war or the administration's international policy. The vote was 39 to 38. Fifty-four Democrats lined up with 24 Republicans to defeat the objectionable provision which has caused such a storm of criticism all over the country and in both houses of congress.

Senator Martin, Democratic floor leader was one of the Democrats that voted against the provision which Attorney General Gregory presented. The striking out of the censorship provision leaves the President without specific control over the press. The other provisions in the espionage bill, however, given the government ample room to use its influence on the press.

Action against war prohibition was revived in the senate today when Senator Cummins, of Iowa introduced an amendment to the espionage bill or "other estate things" in the prohibiting the use of grain, cereals, manufacture of intoxicants.

AMERICAN SOCIALISTS SAY KAIHER MUST GO

The war must be conducted against Germany by the democratic people of the world until it results in the overthrow of autocracy. The message was sent to Stockholm, Copenhagen, The Hague, and Bern by the special request that its text be made known to the German socialists.

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW

Druggist Says Ladies are Using Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur

Hair that loses its color and lustre or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmothers made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old time recipe.

Nowadays we get the famous mixture, improved by the addition of other ingredients, by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, but what pleases the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that it does not beautify the hair, it keeps it after a few applications it becomes back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet remedy to improve color and a general application to the hair. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

Lee Garage Contemplate Making Many Changes in Near Future

That the automobile as a medium of both business and pleasure has come to stay as chiefly an American institution has long been known from Maine to California, and no place within the broad confines of the great American continent has this fact been more plainly apparent than, right here in Clearfield, where the rapid strides in the development of the business of selling and handling the different makes of machine has really been a revelation to everybody.

A few short years ago one small garage and agency was struggling in our midst for a foothold at the door way of existence, while today the up-to-date automobile shops dot almost every street and the exactions and demands of the rapidly increasing business are urging the dealers to almost daily improvement and enlargement of their facilities for handling and merchandising this great American vehicle of convenience.

No other invention of modern times struck such a popular public chord as the automobile. It is typically American and is the necessary safety valve and convenience for our nervous American energy, with the result that the limitations of the business are bounded by the last demand of the trade.

As the automobile is the real vehicle of convenience its devotee demands an equal measure of convenience of display, supply, repairs, etc. That this is so is again demonstrated by the many automobile stores, garages and workshops springing up on every side in every American town and hamlet.

Right here in Clearfield we are exceptionally well supplied along this line and about the most progressive of our many establishments is that of the Lee Garage company, which by careful business methods and up-to-date merchandising has rapidly forged to the front and is recognized as the leading establishment in this line in this section of the state.

Their business has been growing by leaps and bounds and so far outgrew their present quarters that a much larger and more commodious establishment was found to be absolutely necessary.

Accordingly the Pinkelner property, corner of Third and Locust streets was purchased and plans prepared for the erection of the most modern and up-to-date garage to be found in Central Pennsylvania. Due to war times and the impossibility of getting structural steel and the other necessary building materials at any price this spring the erection of the main building has been held up for the present.

However a handsome show room and accessory store building will be erected on the rear or north end of the lot, work on same having been begun this week. The new building will be 28x30 feet in size and two stories high, giving room for the display of but two cars and a complete supply of accessories, with a storage department on second floor. This building will be erected with an idea to the convenience of their customers and a sixteen foot driveway will surround it, making it possible for a machine to drive in off the street for its oil and gas and when supplied, continue right around the building into the alley and thence to the street, thus eliminating all backing and positioning of collision and accident. Everything in accessory line will be found here and competent clerks will be on hand at all times to cater to the wants of the trade. This building will have two fine big show windows in front each 8x7 feet in size with a window 5x7 feet on each side.

In addition to the display room and accessory store a repair shop 50x54 feet in size will be located in the A. J. Kline barn in the alley about one hundred feet west, where will be found a large corps of competent mechanics and the shop will be equipped with all necessary machinery and tools and repairs will be made here in the shortest possible time.

The Lee Garage company are agents for and will handle nothing but the famous and justly popular Cole and Overland automobiles and will be able to show you the "very last word" in these dependable makes at any time.

They are also sole agents for and will handle the United States, Fish and Republic tires.

On account of lack of room at this time, after May 15th they will be unable to store any cars and after June 1st will be unable to take any repairs except for their regular service.

The Lee Garage company is composed of up-to-date business men keenly alive to the rapid advancement of the automobile business and can be depended upon at all times and in every way.

Biggest Circus Uses Willys-Knight Cars

This Product Sold Locally by The Well Known Lee Garage

"The Flying Squadron" of the United States Circus corporation's "Million-Dollar" motorized circus will be mounted on Willys-Knight cars made by The Willys-Overland company of Toledo, Ohio. This decision has been made by Frank P. Spellman president of the big circus corporation, which will begin its big tour in May, opening in Ohio.

The first order placed by President Spellman with The Willys-Overland Company represents 15 cars, placed with the Toledo company after he had closely studied the records of express and taxicab companies which are using the Willys-Knights. The purchase includes five 1200-pound Delivery Wagons, three big roadsters, and the remainder Willys-Knight Fours and Eights.

President Spellman will use two of the cars—one, a graceful touring Sedan, equipped especially for his exclusive use while on the road, and the other will be fitted with a beautiful parade body and will head the motorized street parade each day.

With three exceptions, the remaining cars will be utilized entirely for the advance advertising and press department, composing what President Spellman has designated as "The Flying Squadron."

Careful investigation of the merits of the motor units of the United States circus corporation's equipment was made in each case before an order was placed. Regarding the Willys-Overland product, President Spellman says:

"We had many flattering offers from various companies to purchase their cars, but we finally picked the cars manufactured by The Willys-Overland company as best for our purpose because of the unusual record this type of motor has established throughout the country.

"Before making our decision, we talked to the heads of many big taxicab companies throughout the United States. All were unanimous in their praise of the 865-day-in-the-year service which their Willys-Knights were rendering.

"The motor that can stand the gaff under the strenuous demand made on it by taxi service is the type of motor that will serve us best in our travels across the country in all kinds of weather and over all sorts of roads, as we will have little time to waste to have carbon cleaned out of an engine, or to have valves re-ground or other adjustments made. Because of its construction, need for this is entirely eliminated from the Willys-Knight motor."

The more serious the purchase of a car is to your family, the more seriously you should consider Overland.

Consider what a guarantee it is to own a car backed by a company with $68,000,000 assets; with an army of workmen that would populate a good sized city; with acres and acres of modern factories, and more than 4,000 dealers and branches.

The magnitude of The Willys-Overland Company is due to its management, due to the practical policy of utilizing prodigious production as a means to higher quality and lower prices.

The Willys-Overland Company guards its obligation to the owners of its cars as seriously as a conservative bank protects the interest of its depositors, large and small.

The Willys-Overland is predicated upon the need for cars of beauty, comfort and convenience in addition to long-lived utility.

The average family can participate in the luxuries of motoring because hundreds of thousands of other owners enable The Willys-Overland Company to distribute and bring down costs.

Such a car as the Overland Big Four would never have been possible at such a price as $895 had it not been for over 300,000 similar Overlands which have already gone into service.

Come in and see the Overland Big Four and the most comprehensive line of motor cars ever built by any one producer.

BASEBALL

By H. C. Hamilton
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, May 12.—Hans Wagner's failure to show up this spring and the continued absence of his name from the box-scores is only one of many similar absences. Famous athletes who have played the game for many long years are out, now, and others, of the veterans brigade are slowly slipping back to private life.

Sam Crawford is about the only one of the old-time school of ball players left in the big leagues, and Sam's principal duty is to bat in the pinches. Recently he has been playing first base.

Napoleon Lajoie, grand old man of the second suckers, is not a major leaguer this year. He is managing a club in the International league—out of the fight in the big circuits for the first time in more years than many baseball players have lived.

John Evers, main-spring of the old Cubs, and principal cog in the new Braves, is a bench warmer these days. A strained shoulder and strained nerves have combined to keep him out of active participation.

Wagner's case is just a matter of growing old for the game. Rheumatism has attacked the wonderful old fellow. His eyes are not so good as

SATURDAY EVENING, MAY 12, 1917

Don't forget your Mother tomorrow.

Mother's Day will be celebrated in nearly all of the churches tomorrow. You old moss backs who have gotten out of the habit should remember the admonitions of your Mother and go tomorrow out of respect to her.

Registration Day has no terrors for the patriot. Every last man who walks up to the registrar will walk more erect after having offered his services to Uncle Sam who has protected him and given him the best country on the face of the globe in which to live.

The greatest men of the nation are advocating industrial equilibrium. Industry should not be stifled by "jingo" talk. Business must go on. The property owner can do no better thing for the near future than to keep it in good repair and improve his holdings. There are plenty of luxuries we can cut out before hurting legitimate business.

A patriotic citizen of Clearfield will make a suggestion to Clearfielders on Monday that is worthy of comment and consideration. He is one of the many who are unable under present circumstances to shoulder a musket and do his bit. He desires, however, to pay homage to those who have done so and will unfold his plans to the public through the columns of The Progress on Monday. We will say nothing more about it now but watch for it on Monday.

Everyone who can should join the search for the Rockton lad tomorrow. The little lad has no doubt lost his life by this time but it will be a great blessing to a frantic mother and awe stricken community to have the mystery cleared up even though they find he has met his death. A large number of men will leave Clearfield tomorrow morning at about eight-thirty and all who have machines should join in the search and help relieve the tension in the little hamlet of Rockton.

SAYS WE BECOME CRANKS ON HOT WATER DRINKING

Hopes every man and woman adopts this splendid morning habit

Why is man and woman, half the time, feeling nervous, despondent, worried; some days really incapacitated by illness.

If we all would practice inside-bathing, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of thousands of half-sick, anaemic-looking souls with pasty, muddy complexions, we should see crowds of happy, healthy, rosy-cheeked people everywhere. The reason is that the human system does not rid itself each day of all the waste which it accumulates under our present mode of living. For every ounce of food and drink taken into the system nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out, else it ferments and forms ptomaine-like poisons which are absorbed into the blood.

Just as necessarily as it is to clean the ashes from the furnace each day, before the fire will burn bright and hot, so we must each morning clear the inside organs of the previous day's accumulation of indigestible waste and body toxins. Men and women, whether sick or well, are advised to drink each morning, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of washing out of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the indigestible material, waste, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Millions of people who had their turn at constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach, nervous days and sleepless nights have become real cranks about the morning inside-bath. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will not cost much at the drug store, but is sufficient to demonstrate to anyone its cleansing, sweetening and freshening effect upon the system.

MONOCLES

The monocle is a fraction of a pair of glasses worn by a fraction of a human being. It is fettered to its position by heaven knows what. Usually the wearer sends his eyebrow down to hold it in check. If the eyebrow has got to go upstairs to emphasize a thought or something, the monocle's fall is certain. This situation is overcome by having the monocle on a leash. A long, wide, funeral ribbon leash. This gives it enough of a fall to scare the wits out of it and keep it subdued, but not enough to dash its glass out on the rocks below. To obtain a monocle all you have to do is to go into an optician's shop and order a half portion of spectacles. Though why in heaven's name anyone should want to obtain one is more than we can understand.

UNDERTAKER KNIVES VISITING NURSE

Cincinnati, May 11.—The visiting nurse as a menace to undertakers' business was discussed before the national convention of the Society for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis here today.

Miss Fanny F. Clements of Washington, D. C., superintendent of the Town and County Nursing Service, told of a mining town in a western state, where for eighteen months a visiting nurse worked with great success. Then, suddenly, the girl found her financial support had been withdrawn by vote of the town board.

Of the three board members who cast the majority vote, one was an undertaker who frankly said he opposed the nurse because since her arrival there had been a great falling off of infant funerals. Another owned an unsanitary barn next to the school house. It had been torn down on complaint of the nurse. The third owned property not connected for sewage as the law required.

The county sanitarium as the unit and leader in every phase of anti-tuberculosis work was urged by George J. Neltch, assistant secretary of the State Charities Aid Association of New York. A wide awake sanitarium employing a visiting nurse, will ferret out the suspected or concealed cases. Its superintendent will hold clinics, and a system of after-care for discharged patients will be inaugurated.

DISPUTING ABOUT SOLUTION OF THE U-BOAT MENACE

William L. Saunders, chairman of the Naval Consulting Board, issued a statement that a solution of the German submarine menace had been found. Thereupon great efforts were made to have him retract the statement. Later Lawrence Addicks, chairman of the sub-committee which has the subject in hand, issued a statement in which he said only "good and satisfactory progress" toward solving the problem of doing away with German submarines had been made.

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take Salts to flush kidneys and neutralize irritating acids.

Kidney and bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood, and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

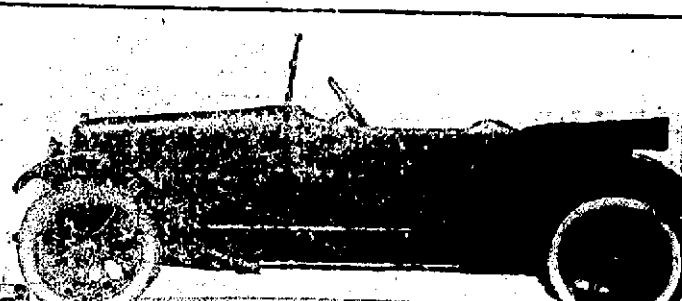

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and cause no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.

Right now it appears that the candidus grubbed a promising recruit when they signed their new president.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

ILSABILL GOT TOO GREEDY

The Fisherman Was Terribly Frightened.

(Adapted from Grimm's Fairy Tales.)

RIGHT after supper daddy began to tell Jack and Evelyn this: "What a fine thing it is to be emperor!" cried a fisherman who came home to find his wife surrounded by courtiers and ladies. "Why should we stop at being emperor?" she asked. "I will be pope now." "Oh, wife, how can you ever be pope? There is but one pope in all Christendom." "Today I want to be pope," declared Ilsabill. "The enchanted fish cannot make you pope," argued her husband. "What nonsense!" cried his wife. "If he can make me emperor he can also make me pope. Go to him and try." "So the fisherman went sadly back to the sea, wondering if Ilsabill were not too greedy to ever be happy. When he got to the shore the wind was rising and the sea tossed up and down in billowing waves. White foam rolled fearfully on top of the angry billows. In the middle of the heavens there was a little piece of blue sky, but toward the south all was red as if a dreadful storm was rising.

"At the sight of the heavens the poor fisherman was terribly frightened. He trembled so that his knees knocked together. But he still remembered the order that his emperor wife had given him, and he went down to the sea and said:

"O man of the sea, hearken to me!
My wife Ilsabill will have her own will
And hath sent me to beg a loan of thee!"

"What does Ilsabill want now?" asked the fish-prince, swimming out of the angry sea.

"She wants to be pope!" cried the fisherman, much frightened.

"Go home. She is pope already," said the enchanted fish.

"Then the fisherman went home and found Ilsabill sitting on a throne two miles high, and she had three great crowns on her silly head, and around her stood all the pomp and power of the church.

"And on each side of her were two rows of burning lights. The greatest were as big as the largest, highest tower in the world, and the smallest was no bigger than a rush light. It was indeed a wonderful thing to be pope," daddy finished the bedtime story.

"Thank you, daddy!" cried the children.
And daddily bent them a kiss.

Ulysses S. Grant, 3d, son of General Frederick D. Grant, and grandson of President Grant, is a major of engineers in the regular army and Ulysses S. Grant, 4th, son of Ulysses Grant Jr., and therefore also a grandson of President Grant, has enlisted as a private in a New York national guard regiment. And among others who are likely "to carry the salute" to France are men bearing the names of Fitzhugh Lee, Philip H. Sheridan

Russian Duma Said To Be Prisoners

Not Exactly Held By Force But Uncertainty Prevails Naton

By Wm. G. Shepherd.
Petrograd, May 12.—Anxiety of the plain public of Russia intending to bridge the chasm of the autocracy that was and the democracy that is to be—without carefully looking over the bridge—menaced Russia today. "Workmen and socialists do not have confidence in the Duma leaders who are practically under arrest in their own house," is the summary of the situation by delegate Shalgin. Deputy Boticheff declared in an impassioned address in the Duma that "all honest Russian hearts are with you. Even your opponents are backing you, and your name will be blessed as long as the Russian language is spoken."

Columbus, O., May 12.—Triumphs of suffrage during five years were reviewed today by Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, international suffrage president, in an address to the Mississippi Valley suffrage conference. The conference sessions will last three days. Several thousand delegates are in attendance, from the following states, Arkansas, Minnesota, Nebraska, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Michigan, North Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton, president of the Ohio association, and many other noted suffragists will address the convention.

The Sophomore class of the Clearfield High school gave the annual banquet to their sister class the seniors last evening in the gymnasium of the new High school building.

The party was one of the most important social affairs of the school year and great preparations were made in order to entertain the seniors in such a manner that they shall long remember after they have left dear old High.

The energetic Sophomores had decorated the gym most appropriately and beautifully in Red and white and blue.

Miss Alice Smith at the piano and Kenneth Thorn with the traps furnished excellent music for the dancers while the rest spent a merry evening playing games. About eleven o'clock an excellent banquet supper was served.

It is an interesting circumstance that scions of many of the most famous American families are donning the uniform of their country in readiness as M. Viviani puts it, "to carry the salute of the United States to a free Europe."

THEDA BARA FINDS WALKS IN MORNING HELP HER ACTING

Her Advice to Beginners is: Take Advantage of Early Hour Freshness

According to tradition, the main value of daylight to actors is for sleeping purposes. Theda Bara defies tradition.

The famous William Fox actress, who will be seen in "The Vixen" at the Globe Theatre Monday afternoon and night, often rises early in the morning, and takes walks along the Hudson river to get the fresh air and sunshine which are of so much help in her art.

"The time before most other persons have breakfast," says Miss Bara, "is the best part of the day. One feels invigorated and refreshed by the sweetness of the air, and there are no jostling crowds along the streets to interfere with one's freedom."

"Morning is the only time of the day that I could dare to walk in the open. At other times have to close myself securely in my limousine, and turn my back toward the crowds, or I should be worried by people staring into the car. I couldn't think of walking at any other hour."

"Morning is also the most interesting part of the day. It is then that one can see the real workers of the city. Occasionally some poor wreck of the night before drifts by on his way home. But most persons seem happy and contented, so that the whole atmosphere is filled with freshness and peace."

"I find that short walks in the morning prepare me better for my work during the day. I can think more clearly and infuse more spirit into my art. My advice to those who want to rise to places of prominence in the photoplay is this:

"Take plenty of morning air, and you'll work better."

BLACK ORCHIDS

The ignominious fate of Zoraida, beautiful creature of Rex Ingram's fancy, who won men's love and then jilted them, will serve as a lesson to flittatious maidens when "Black Orchids" is displayed in Bluebird Photoplays at the Tent Movies theatre this evening with Cleo Madison playing the leading role. There is a tense and tragic interest in the progress of Zoraida's heartless treatment of men who fawned at her feet—there is a great and purposeful mission in this gripping photoplay.

WILL BE BURIED AT PENFIELD

The remains of the late Elmer E. Campbell, nephew of A. H. Woodward Esq., who died at Johnstown, aged 23 years, were taken through Clearfield enroute for his former home in Penfield for interment.

CORRECTION

In the Red Cross article yesterday we erroneously stated that Mrs. J. Fred Weaver was elected Vice Chairman. It was Mr. J. Fred Weaver who was elected.

SUNDAY SCHOOL

Lesson VII.—Second Quarter, For May 13, 1917.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, John xv, 1-16. Memory Verses, 7, 8—Golden Text, John xv, 1—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Sisearne.

It certainly does seem strange to have no lesson given from John xiv or xv, but we must not pass them by. It is true that part of chapter xiv was suggested in connection with the last review, but that gave no opportunity for the study of such a chapter.

In the end of yesterday's lesson chapter Peter insisted that he was ready to lay down his life for Christ's sake, but the Lord, who knew all that was in him, said that the cock would not crow before Peter would thrice deny Him (xiii, 36-38). If our Lord immediately added the words, "Let not your heart be troubled," and the words following He would seem to say, "Although I know you so well, Peter, and how weak you are, I would not have you troubled, for some day I will get you all home to the mansions prepared for you, and then there will be no more failure on your part, but you will each have a throne and reign with me over the tribes of Israel (Luke xiii, 29-30)."

"It is really pathetic to hear Him say to Philip, 'Have I been so long a time with you, and yet hast thou not known Me?' (xiv, 9). But that was His continual lament. Israel did not know. They knew not the thoughts of the Lord. If thou hadst known O righteous Father, the world hath not known Thee (Isa. i, 3; Mic. vi, 12; Luke xix, 42; John xvii, 25). If we only knew Him, and through Him the Father, how very different the life of a believer would be! If the Comforter, the Spirit of Truth, had full control of us, then the peace of God would rule in our hearts. We would neither be troubled nor afraid. We would ask and receive to the glory of God, and it would be manifest to others that the Father, Son and Holy Spirit were making their home in us (xiv, 13, 14, 16, 17, 23, 26, 27). The one thing that we are here for, as the Lord's redeemed ones, is to bear fruit, more fruit, much fruit, that He may be glorified (xv, 1-8). The fruit of the Spirit is fully described in Gal. v, 22-23, and all else is from the evil one, the prince of this world of John xiv, 30. According to Ezek. xv, the vine is good for nothing if it does not bear fruit, for nothing can be made of the wood of it.

In Ps. lxxxv, 8-15, Israel is spoken of as a vine out of Egypt which filled the land and covered the hills, a vineyard which His right hand had planted, but which the enemy had wasted. In Isa. v, 1-7, He again speaks of Israel as His vineyard and the men of Judah His pleasant plant and asks, "What could have been done more to my vineyard that I have not done in it?" Then He expresses surprise that instead of the grapes He should have had she gave Him only wild grapes; instead of righteousness, oppression. All is only failure, and always failure on man's side, and never but in one instance could the Father say, "In Him I am well pleased," and only He could say, "I do always those things that please Him" (Matt. xvii, 5; John viii, 29). He is the True Vine, the True Bread, the True Light, the True Tabernacle, the Truth. He never failed in any detail of His life, and He cannot fail to accomplish all that He has purposed. He is also the Branch of the Lord, beautiful and glorious. David's righteous Branch, the King who shall reign and prosper; the servant of the Branch, the man whose name is the Branch, who shall build the temple of the Lord (Isa. lv, 2; Jer. xxiii, 5; Zech. iii, 8; vi, 12). He is the only source of all fruit, for apart from Him we are nothing and can do nothing (verse 5), and He is our only example. As the wise husbandman prunes his vines, even though they bleed, and ties them up and trains them as seems best to him, we must not think Him unwise or unkind if He deals so with us, but consider Him who endured for us; who, though He were a Son, yet learned obedience by the things which He suffered (Heb. xii, 3; v, 8). As He lived in His Father's love, so He would have us live in His love and remember that love is always kind (verse 9 and I Cor. xiii, 4).

It should not be difficult to let such love have its own way with us; but, not having always the assurance that it is love, because it does not look to us like it, we waver and fail. Hudson Taylor thought that it is weakness that abides, so if we are consciously weak we may always abide. Some perplexing sayings in this lesson will seem not difficult if we remember that He was talking to true disciples, eleven really saved men, and the truths concerning fruit bearing were for these and all saved people. From I Cor. iii, 14, 15, we learn that it is possible to be saved and yet bear no fruit. In view of the fact that He knew that Jerusalem was before Him that night and Gethsemane the next day, how could He speak of His joy and the desire that it might be in them? (Verse 11.) It must have been the joy of Heb. xii, 2, to which He has not yet fully come and which should ever be before us if we would meekly bear the hatred and opposition of the world, which will hate us if we are like Him (verses 18-25). Think of our being chosen in Him before the foundation of the world (Eph. i, 4) and obtained by Him to bear abiding fruit.

The suspension of Tris Speaker stopper his batting for a few days, but his batting average didn't shrink.

Heard In The Back Yard

The Dog: "Home'll never seem the same."
The Cat: "Nope. Since the Missus went down to Powell's Hardware store and got all those things for this Spring clean-up there's no more traipsing in and out for us. But, you ought to see how that STAINFLOOR FINISH has made things look brighter; the ALABASTINE on the walls is better than paper; the woodwork has been done over with MASURY'S READY MIXED PAINT; the rooms that were not papered were cleaned with CLIMAX WALLPAPER CLEANER. And with the brushes she got at Powell's she did most of the work herself."

As the two pets bemoaned their fate the entire family were rejoicing over how much better it was to live after the house had been thoroughly renovated and at a very low cost.
